RESEARCH PROMOTION POLICY

RESEARCH PROMOTION POLICY

Research Promotion Policy has been formulated with an aim of realizing the vision statement: in line with ISBM University's mission & vision to become an of becoming an innovative academic institution, the R&D vision of the university is to be among the private universities in the country known for contributing to solving real societal, technological problems through learning, research, and innovation.

Changes in economic parameters and societal transformation are impacted not only by traditional modes of discovery and growth in scientific or technological knowledge but also through new or unique ways of application or implementation. It is the endeavour of ISBM University to facilitate a conducive environment that promotes the complete cycle of critical thinking: inspiration, ideation, and implementation, with a focus on beneficial differentiation relative to existing solutions. Basic Science, Information Technology, Arts and Humanities, Commerce and Management, Law, Pharmacy and Library Science are all part of innovation that can benefit society through knowledge sharing and contribution.

Research and developmental activities at ISBM University would create and disseminate new knowledge in a wide range involving, promotion of innovation, and motivate and strengthen the learning practical utility for developing new and improved products or services. Research is the foundation of knowledge that brings new energy, builds state-of-the-art facilities, promotes research publications including patents, develops national as well as international collaborations, and becomes part of the active trans-disciplinary community that shares the mission objectives. Taking the above into consideration ISBM University Research Policy has been established.

5.1 Undertaking Research

Faculty, other researchers, staff and students of ISBMU are expected to undertake research, innovation or contribute to research, innovation directly or indirectly, leading to quality scholarly publications, or patent publications, or articles in reputed general interest publications, or presentations in National/International conferences of repute. These platforms for publications and presentations will be approved by the university and updated from time to time depending on their standing. The quality of research output, especially research publications, may be assessed on the established yardsticks such as Impact Factor (IF) which will be revised from time-to-time as appropriate. Patent publications would be expected to lead towards granted patents resulting in generation of Intellectual Property with potential for commercialization or benevolence, socially useful, environmentally beneficial, or sustainability promoting research or innovation outcomes.

5.2 Obligations of faculty and researchers (including post graduate researchers)

Research, Development, Innovation, and industry projects' output will be considered one of the criteria for faculty promotion along with other academic responsibilities, viz., teaching and institution building depending upon roles and agreed goals.

5.3 Recruitment of new faculty and researchers

One of the criteria for recruitment of new faculty members and researchers would be demonstrable/ demonstrated capability in research and/or other forms of innovation such as success in issued patents or securing grants, consultancy or other means of funding.

5.4 Research Advisory Committee

Chairman of Research Advisory Committee, ISBM University will be responsible for formulation of the Research, Development and Innovation Agenda for the University and revise it from time to time. Overall, related activities will be coordinated by the office of the Dean (Research & Development), under direct supervision of the Vice Chancellor. Research Advisory Committee shall assist and advise for broad functioning of research activities within the University.

Discussion

1. Introduction and Overview of the Research Promotion Policy

- The Dean (Research & Development) provided an overview of the Research Promotion Policy, highlighting its objectives and scope.
- Emphasis was placed on fostering a culture of research and innovation across all university departments.
- The committee acknowledged the need for structured guidelines to encourage high-quality research outputs, such as publications in indexed journals and patents.
- Members discussed the role of the Research Advisory Committee in promoting collaborative and interdisciplinary research.

2. Discussing Funding Mechanisms and Seed Grants for Researchers

- It was agreed that researchers need access to financial support for initiating projects, particularly for innovative and socially impactful proposals.
- The committee proposed allocating seed grants on a competitive basis, with clear evaluation criteria.
- Suggestions were made to prioritize funding for projects aligned with sustainability goals, societal benefits, and potential for commercialization.
- Members also discussed the importance of faculty securing external funding from government and non-government agencies, with support from the university in proposal development.

3. Identifying Focus Areas for Innovation and Interdisciplinary Research

- The committee emphasized the importance of identifying key focus areas for research, such as:

- I. Sustainable development
 - II. Emerging technologies (e.g., artificial intelligence, green energy)
 - III. Social sciences and humanities
 - IV. Health and pharmaceutical advancements
- Interdisciplinary collaborations between departments were discussed as a means to address complex, real-world problems.
 - Suggestions were made to create a research roadmap with short-term and long-term goals, considering both academic and societal needs.

4. Planning Research Capacity-Building Workshops for Faculty and Students

- Members agreed on the need for workshops and training programs to enhance research skills.
- Proposed topics for workshops include:
 - Research methodology and statistical tools
 - Academic writing for high-impact publications
 - Patent filing and intellectual property management
 - Grant proposal preparation

Summary

The discussions concluded with unanimous agreement on the key points, and members committed to implementing the policy and proposed initiatives effectively. A follow-up meeting will be scheduled to review progress and address any challenges.
